LUXURY CRUISES & TOURS

RIVER CRUISE EVENING

As a holiday choice, river cruising is BOOMING. Local travel brokers Brigitte Kempf and Nicola Sorenson are hosting a travel evening in July to introduce more travellers to this style of holiday.

Mrs Kempf says now is great time to get the best deals for 2017, they have both seen a steady demand for 2017 travel.

Unlike ocean cruising where you're on board with thousands of others, a river cruise is a more relaxed experience with typical passenger numbers of 200 or less.

A river cruise offers a more immersive experience for passengers, for example where guests disembark and hop on a bike to explore a village, or hike along a trail to an ancient Roman border fort.

"It's perfect for singles or couples who aren't keen on checking out of hotels at 6am to hop on a coach for half a day. A river cruise offers unpacking once, without spending long days travelling from place to place."

Food and wine is often a highlight of the cruises – many cruise companies make a point of basing their menus around local specialities, and they'll frequently offer cooking classes to show guests the tips and tricks of authentic European cooking.

"River cruising offers the best of both worlds, you have the convenience (and luxury) of a cruise, and you're able to travel to the heart of a county where you can really experience the history and culture of a region."

While river cruising in Asia and USA are starting to take off, Europe remains the most popular choice by far.

An expert from luxury cruise company, Scenic, will also be at the evening to talk about what's on offer, with an exclusive NZ Travel Brokers' offer as well as spot prizes.

Scenic's river cruises are famous for their all-inclusive trips, covering meals, gratuities and shore excursions - This will be a great evening for anyone looking at a European holiday or a river cruise

Mrs Sorenson and Mrs Kempf worked independently from their own travel offices but, being part of NZ Travel Brokers, they were able to back each other and support one another.

They both have a wealth of knowledge about travel as well as being Travel Industry qualified. Mrs Sorenson said the women like to tailor the holiday to suit the person or group, from independent travellers, to someone wanting everything organised for them.

The women pride themselves on the service they provide and both have very successful broker businesses built through referrals and word of mouth. Their clients would certainly agree that it is better value for money to work with a Travel Broker. Brokers have the knowledge and access to all the best deals along with the way to plan a holiday that maximises both time and money.

Mrs Kempf says that the Brokers can match advertised specials, and have access to a huge range of travel companies.

NZ Travel Brokers is an independent travel company that holds TAAZ membership, IATA accreditation and is affiliated to the highly respected First Travel Group. By working with a TAAZ bonded Travel Broker, you will have peace of mind and travel holiday security.

To find out more about River Cruising, come along to the travel evening on the 13th July.
